

DAHL AWAITS VERDICT OF GEN. FRANCO

Flier Anxious To Know Where He Stands

BULLETIN

Salamanca, Spain, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Harold E. Dahl, American aviator shot down by Spanish insurgents while he fought for the Spanish government, was sentenced today to be shot for "rebellion" but he was immediately reprieved.

Gaining his reprieve from Insurgent General Francisco Franco, the Champaign, Ill., flier will be held in jail here waiting further orders (probably for his exchange with the Madrid-Valencia regime for a government-held insurgent prisoner.)

Three Russians, tried with Dahl on similar charges, received the same treatment.

Salamanca, Spain, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A 28-year-old American aviator, Harold E. Dahl, lounged in Salamanca's modern jail today, awaiting both a sentence of death and a lease on life.

Informed sources said the Spanish insurgent court martial which tried Dahl for "rebellion" against the regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco surely had decreed that he go before the firing squad.

But, it was said, the verdict would be accompanied either by a full pardon or a recommendation of clemency from Franco himself. Dahl, an insurgent prisoner since last July when he bailed out of a Spanish government plane disabled in combat over the Madrid front, worked over his memoirs and commented:

"If I escape with a whole skin I'll be damned lucky. But at least I'll know where I stand."

As outlined by his court-appointed counsel, Marquis Del Merito, at Tuesday's trial, Dahl's adventure started when he joined the government's air force through the Spanish embassy in Mexico City.

He was to receive $1,500 a month as a flying instructor, it was said, but he was forced at pistol point to pilot a warplane against the insurgents.

Wife Waits in France When reports the Champaign, Ill., aviator had been doomed by summary decree reached his beautiful wife, a former actress who had gone to France to seek a reunion, she sent her photograph and a plea for her husband's life to Franco.

Through an aide, a cousin also named Francisco Franco, the insurgent chieftain assured Mrs. Dahl by letter of September 10 that a prisoner exchange would be made, sparing Dahl's life, "if the occasion arises."

But a court martial was ordered and in the tapestried grand hall of an ancient Moorish palace, Dahl was tried two days ago with three Russian fliers similarly charged.

MOTHER AWAITS VERDICT

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Ida Dahl confidently awaited today the verdict of a court martial in Salamanca, Spain, which was to decide the fate of her son, Harold "Whitey" Dahl, captured by the Spanish insurgents several months ago while fighting for the Loyalist government.

Dahl was born June 29, 1909, in Sidney, Ill., and was graduated from Champaign high school in 1926. He attended Butler and Millikin universities before enlisting in the Army Air Corps at Brooks Field, San Antonio, Tex., in 1931.

Six months later he entered primary flying school at Randolph field as a cadet. He was graduated in 1933 and sent to Mitchell Field, L. I., as a second lieutenant, where he remained until 1935.

After leaving the air corps Dahl was in charge of a CCC camp at Flagstaff, Ariz., for about six months, after which he went to Mexico, where he married the former Miss Edith Rogers, a one-time singer with Rudy Vallee's orchestra.

Not Stumped

Pella, Ia., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Haying time came upon farmer Jacob Dehaan before he started to construct a new barn in which he planned to store this year's crop. But that didn't stump him. He stacked the hay on the barn site and now is building barn around the haystack.

REPORT ROSS RANSOM NOTE IS RECEIVED

Letter To Friend Of Wife Mailed From Savanna

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A ransom note was reported to have been received today from kidnapers of Charles Ross, well-to-do retired greeting card manufacturer. Earl Connelly, investigator for the department of justice, refused to confirm or deny the report. Mrs. Ross recently paved the way for communication with the kidnapers by announcing her readiness to cooperate with them for her husband's safe return.

Usually reliable authorities said the note had been mailed to a Mrs. Breckenridge, a friend of the Ross family, in care of general delivery. It was said to have contained an enclosure in which were directions for payment of the ransom, the amount of which was not made known.

Kidnaped Sept. 25 Ross, 72, was kidnaped Sept. 25 near Sycamore, Ill., by three men who stopped his car in which Ross was riding with his former secretary.

The letter naming Mrs. Breckenridge to act as intermediary, was mailed from Savanna, Ill. The enclosure was addressed to Mrs. Ross.

How Mrs. Breckenridge learned the letter was waiting for her at general delivery in the old post-office building was not made known immediately.

At the Ross home, a woman who declined to give her name denied by telephone that a ransom note had been received. She said she did not know "Mrs. Breckenridge."

Mrs. David Horton Died This Morning

Mrs. Mathilda A. Horton, widow of the late David S. Horton, passed away at her home, 216 Crawford avenue, at 2:30 o'clock this morning after a lingering illness. Mrs. Horton was born May 10, 1859 at Kankakee, Ill., and had been a resident of Dixon for almost 75 years, coming to this city when a small child. She had attained the age of 78 years, four months and 27 days.

Her husband preceded her in death Jan. 15 of this year and she leaves one son, Claude Horton of this city to mourn her passing. Funeral services will be held at the residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church officiating and with interment in Oakwood.

Dixonite Given Six Months Term At Vandalia Farm

(Telegraph Special Service) Morrison, Oct. 7.—Chester Liles of Dixon, who two weeks ago escaped from Sterling city and state police, was sentenced to serve a six months' term at the state work farm at Vandalia when arraigned before County Judge H. D. Luden yesterday afternoon. Clifford Barth also of Dixon, said to be a partner of Liles' was assessed a fine of $25 and costs. Petty larceny was charged against both men.

Geneva Awarded New Postoffice

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The treasury awarded today a $63,750 contract to A. Smith and Company, Chicago, for construction of a post-office in Geneva, Ill. Work is to be completed in 270 days.

The Hiram Lloyd Building and Construction Company, St. Louis, Mo., received a $49,945 contract for construction of a post-office in Carlyle, Ill. Work is to be completed in 300 days.

CONVICTS HIT GUARD, KIDNAP ANOTHER, FLEE

Prison Dormitory the Scene Of Attack And Escape

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Three convicts slugged a guard into unconsciousness and temporarily used another for a hostage in making an escape from the Stateville prison honor farm early today.

The felons, all serving terms for robbery, waylaid J. P. Black, a guard, during the change of shifts, and then forced F. R. Brunjen, another guard, to accompany them.

Brunjen, in whose car the convicts fled, was dumped out of the car two miles north of the prison. He was unarmed, prison authorities said.

The attack on the guards occurred in a dormitory in which 150 trustees were asleep. The three convicts felled Black with a rock.

Warden Joseph Ragen said Black quickly regained consciousness. The three prisoners, whose escape was flashed over police radios in Illinois and nearby states, were:

Gene Moorehead, 28, sentenced in June, 1934, to serve a three to 20-year sentence for armed robbery. He was eligible for parole in August.

William Hanley, 37, sentenced in October, 1934, to serve a three to 20-year sentence for armed robbery. His case was to go before the parole board next April.

James Page, 36, sentenced in July, 1934, to serve a one to 10-year sentence for robbery. He was eligible for parole in June, 1938.

Prison rules and regulations were tightened Sunday when convicts went on a hunger strike which the warden attributed to resentment against the state board of pardons and paroles. Last month, the board extended clemency to only three of 214 applicants for parole.

The number of hunger strikers gradually diminished. Yesterday prison authorities said only 60 inmates refused to eat their meals.

MEDICAL SOCIETIES HOLD JOINT MEET IN DIXON TODAY

The Lee and Whiteside County Medical societies are holding a joint scientific meeting this afternoon and evening in Dixon at the nurses' class rooms of the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital beginning at 5 o'clock. Dr. E. L. Cornell of Chicago, professor of obstetrics at the University of Chicago, will talk with demonstrations on "Education and Technique for Gephalic and Podalic Versin."

At 6 o'clock a dinner will be served at the Nachusa hotel. Prolonged Labor, will be the subject of Dr. Cornell's talk at 7 o'clock and at 8 o'clock Dr. Noel Shaw of Evanston, professor of medicine at Northwestern University will speak about allergic children. Dr. H. J. McCoy and Dr. W. H. McCandless, president of the Whiteside County Medical society both stated that this will be a very interesting and instructive session. It is expected that from 50 to 100 doctors will attend.

Yankees Win Second in Row, 8 to 1; Melton Is Routed After Fine Start

"Powerhouse" of A. L. Champions is Again Effective

Yankee Stadium, Oct. 7.—The Yankees made it two in a row this afternoon before only about 40,000 fans, by assaulting Melton and Gumbert, the two Giant pitchers, for 12 hits and 8 runs. The Giants got but one run and 7 hits off "Red" Ruffing, the Yankee pitcher. Story of the game:

FIRST INNING Giants: Moore fanned swinging at a fast ball. Bartell dropped a Texas Leaguer into left field for two bases. Hoag barely got his glove on the ball but couldn't hold it. Ott lashed a single to right, scoring Bartell, and then to second on the throw-in, sliding safely into the bag to beat Dickey's relay. Ripple fanned, swinging at all three. McCarthy fanned swinging at a high fast ball.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left. Yankees: Crosetti fanned on a called third strike. Ruffing grounded out. Bartell to McCarthy. DiMaggio lined out to Bartell on the first catch. Gehrig's short stop speared the ball a foot from the ground and clung to it as he fell.

No runs, no hits, no errors, one left. SECOND INNING Giants: Chiozza rolled out, Rolfe to Gehrig. Mancuso grounded out. Crosetti fanned. Whitehead hoisted to Selkirk on the right field running track.

No runs, no hits, no errors. Yankees: Bartell threw out Gehrig on a pretty play, taking his hopper on the run behind second base. Gehrig walked on a fast throw. Chiozza took Dickey's long drive on the run. Hoag was thrown out on another sensational play by Bartell.

No runs, no hits, no errors. THIRD INNING Giants: Ruffing took Melton's slow roller and threw him out. Moore grounded out. Crosetti to Gehrig. The crowd gave the peppery Giant shortstop, a big hand. Bartell responded by singling sharply past Rolfe for his second straight hit. Ott lifted a high fly to Hoag.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left. Yankees: Selkirk popped to out. Lazzari poked a single past Whitehead. It was the fastest hit of Melton. Ruffing grounded into a double play on the first pitch. Bartell to Whitehead to McCarthy.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left. FOURTH INNING Giants: Crosetti ran back to grab Ripple's pop fly. McCarthy grounded out. Ruffing to Gehrig. Lazzari threw out Chiozza.

No runs, no hits, no errors. Yankees: The sun came out and the scene was sparkling by comparison with yesterday's foggy setting. Crosetti popped to Bartell who backed into short left field. Rolfe rolled out to McCarthy unassisted with the count three and two. DiMaggio lined a single to center. Gehrig walked on four straight hits after Melton had him in the hole with two strikes. Dickey was called out on strikes with the count two and two. The crowd gave Melton a big hand as the rookie snafu pulled himself out of a hole.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left. FIFTH INNING Giants: Mancuso bounced out, Crosetti to Gehrig. Lazzari threw out Ripple's pop fly. Selkirk came in fast to take the batsman's slow roller. Melton walked, the fourth ball being low. Moore smashed the first pitch to right for a single. Melton stopping at second. Bartell fanned, swinging at a curve.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left. Yankees: Hoag cracked a double to right. Selkirk singled to right scoring Hoag. The tying run, Lazzari lashed a single to center. Selkirk stopped at second. There was a burst of activity in the Giants' bullpen as Mancuso and Bartell went into a huddle with Melton. Ruffing singled off Ott for the fourth straight Yankee hit scoring Selkirk. Lazzari stopped at second. Melton was taken out of the box. Harry Gumbert, right-hander, who got into the game yesterday by mistake, relined the string bean southpaw. The crowd gave Melton a good hand as he walked dejectedly to the bench. Crosetti hoisted a high fly to Moore. Rolfe forced Ruffing at Whitehead came in for his high hopper and tossed to Bartell. Lazzari reached third. DiMaggio fanned, swinging at a curve, which he missed by a foot, after smashing two terrific fouls into the lower left field stands.

Two runs, four hits, no errors, two left. SIXTH INNING Giants: Ott filed to DiMaggio in right center. Ripple also hoisted to DiMaggio. McCarthy lifted a high fly that DiMaggio grabbed for his third straight putout, equaling a major league record.

Yankees: Gehrig beat out a slow roller down the third base line which Ott failed to handle. It was scored baseli. Dickey lined the scored pitch to center for a single. Gehrig stopping at second. Hoag attempted to sacrifice but forced Gehrig at third. McCarthy to Ott. Selkirk's hard ground caromed off McCarthy's leg, scoring Dickey and Hoag. The ball bounded into right field and was good for a double as the Giants handled the ball poorly. Lazzari was intentionally passed. Ruffing smashed the first pitch against the lower boxes in left field for a double, scoring Selkirk and Lazzari. Gumbert was taken out of the box and replaced by Dick Coffman, another right-hander. Chiozza took Crosetti's fly on the running track in left center. Ruffing moving to third after the catch. Whitehead grabbed Rolfe's sharp grounder and threw him out.

Four runs, four hits, no errors, one left. SEVENTH INNING Giants: Chiozza fanned swinging. Ruffing tossed out Mancuso. Whitehead walked, the fourth ball being

Converted

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A woman who said she "cheated" a penny weighing machine mailed a nickel to A. E. Goldreich, department store manager, to relieve her conscience.

The woman explained in a letter that she and four others had weighed "all for a penny" on the scales. She said she had been converted recently and realized her "wrong."

300 CIVILIANS KILLED IN JAP PLANE ATTACK

Desperate Battle Is Continuing Near Shanghai

Shanghai, Oct. 7.—(AP)—More than 300 Chinese civilians were reported today to have been killed by mass bombing raids of Japanese warplanes on the rich southern province of Kwangtung.

The Chinese central news agency reported that eight Japanese planes, including two huge bombers were shot down by a surprise Chinese defense of the strategic military railway linking Canton on the south coast and the Yangtze river port of Hankow.

The massed Japanese flight took to the air yesterday just as the League of Nations and the United States condemned Japan for violation of her treaty obligations by invasion of Chinese territory.

A dozen railway centers were bombed along the route from Canton to Hankow. Chinese dispatches said, killing and wounding more than 300 non-combatants in those towns alone.

In Northern Kwangtung province the raiding planes were said to have caused several hundred more casualties. Twenty bombs fell on the departmental city of Shuichow alone, demolishing some 30 dwellings.

Chinese Stage Rush While the massed flight of 36 planes followed the railroad to the north, dropping bombs on each village as they came to it, Chinese said a spirited attack by 70 Chinese planes kept the line from being more than slightly damaged.

At Shanghai, where a desperate battle was raging through the rice paddies northwest of the city, the Japanese flagship, Idzumo sent countless shells screaming over the international settlement in an effort to blast the Chinese out of stubbornly-defended positions on the Chapel and north station battle fronts.

In the early morning hours the Chinese pounded out of their pill boxes and sand-bagged entrenchments all along the 25-mile battle front from the north station northwest to Lotien and rushed the Japanese with ancient big swords and modern bayonets.

Ten miles northwest of Shanghai the opposed armies were locked in a fierce struggle for possession of the Shanghai-Lieuhong motor road.

CHARGES HYPOCRISY Tokyo, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Gen. Gen Sugiyama, the Japanese minister of war, today accused world powers of preaching justice and humanity for China and, at the same time, "directly contravening every international law" by selling China gun-cum bullets for use against Japanese soldiers.

The war minister declared the munitions were reaching China through Hongkong, the British colony on the South China coast, and "other routes."

It was the first interview the grizzled veteran ever had given, and he began it by telling the Associated Press that "Japan is deeply grateful for the essential neutrality of the American nation."

He declined to comment directly on the action of the United States department of state in condemning Japan for waging undeclared war against China in violation of the nine-power pact guaranteeing China's territorial integrity.

"However," he said, "I firmly believe in the traditional American fair play and I want to take this opportunity to say so—despite everything."

Sugiyama said there was a great deal of misunderstanding in the world concerning Japan's aims.

Munitions Exports

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Exports of war supplies approved by the state department in September totaled $18,089,537, almost seven times the volume during August, records showed today.

More than half, or $10,057,920 worth, went to Soviet Russia, whose purchases included armor plate for one or more battleships, powder and ammunition.

U. S. DECLARES 9-POWER PACT IS VIOLATED

Will Join Powers In Conference To End Far East War

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Secretary Hull indicated today his government's firm intention of participating in a nine-power conference to consider the Far Eastern conflict.

The secretary of state said at his press conference that no invitation to such a parley thus far has been received, but that naturally, as one of the signatories to the nine power treaty guaranteeing China's territorial sovereignty, he "presumed" this government would accept it and when the bid is received.

The conference is being convoked on the recommendation of the League of Nations assembly to consider possible measures to halt the Sino-Japanese conflict.

Hull said this government has received no communication proposing that the conference be held in Washington, birthplace of the nine power treaty, and he declined to comment on suggestions that this city might be designated. Such suggestions have been made unofficially in both Geneva and London.

The secretary of state pointed out that the League action looking toward the summoning of such a conference was directed to signatories of the pact which are members of the League of Nations.

These signatories in turn are being relied upon to invite those parties to the treaty which are not members of the league. Among the latter is the United States.

Expect Bid Shortly These formalities account for the fact that the United States thus far has not formally been invited. Officials here indicated, however, that they expected the bid to be forthcoming shortly.

American consent to participate was regarded generally as a foregone conclusion after the state department issued its stinging denunciation of Japan last night as a treaty violator.

Secretary Hull explained that this pronouncement was made by the United States government in its capacity as a signatory of treaties it regarded as having been violated and raised only the simple question of whether the action of another signatory was contrary to the pacts.

The secretary of state parried questions as to what attitude this government holds toward a League of Nations proposal that other governments refrain from doing anything in the Sino-Japanese conflict that would tend to hamper China in its struggle.

The state department acted swiftly to give practical force to President Roosevelt's pledge of co-operation with all peace-loving nations to end what he described as the prevailing reign of international lawlessness.

Its stinging indictment of Japanese aggression was timed to coincide with similar action by the League of Nations assembly.

"In the light of the unfolding developments in the Far East," the state department said, "the government of the United States has been forced to the conclusion that the action of Japan in China is inconsistent with the principles which should govern the relationships between nations and is contrary to the provisions of the nine-power treaty of Feb. 6, 1922, regarding principles and policies to be followed in matters concerning China, and to those of the Kellogg-Briand pact of Aug. 27, 1928."

Extreme Measure It marked the second time in a little more than five years that the United States had resorted to this extreme in its Far Eastern policy. Similar action was taken in 1932 by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson when he sought to call Japan to account for its invasion of Manchuria.

Significantly, the outspoken pronouncement said this government's conclusions already had decided to accept an anticipated invitation to participate in a conference of nine-power treaty signatories now being convoked under League auspices.

Such a parley was proposed by the League assembly to deal further with the Sino-Japanese conflict. The United States is a party to the accord and as such is interested in guarding it against violations.

State department officials are represented on the other hand as feeling that, while consultations among the signatories are eminent, any proper in the circumstances, any action looking toward restoration of peace in the Orient is the responsibility of all nations.

If this view prevails, some observers say, it may mean the proposed nine-power conference will

Young Parolee From St. Charles Makers Two 'Boners'; Is Jailed

Herbert Reed, 17-year-old farm hand and a parolee from the St. Charles School for Boys, attempted a new technique yesterday in an effort to raise some ready cash, by borrowing a tire wrench from Ze-luff Hartson, attendant at the Anderson tire shop, using the wrench to remove a spare tire from Hartson's auto, which was parked in the river bank parking space west of Galena avenue, while the owner of the car watched him, and then attempting to sell the tire to Hartson for $2.50. The frenzied financial transaction came to a sudden end when Officer Harry Jones appeared on the scene and took the young promoter into custody. He will be arraigned in the county court on an information tomorrow morning and a state officer will be notified of his violation of his parole. The youth had complained to Chief Van Bibber earlier in the day that his farmer for whom he had been working had refused to pay him.

VETERINARIANS OF STATE TO MEET AT URBANA

Control of Livestock, Poultry Diseases To Be Discussed

Seeking the latest word on new developments in the control of livestock and poultry diseases on Illinois farms, more than 200 veterinarians from all sections of the state are expected to attend the 18th annual veterinary conference at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, October 7 to 9.

All the major diseases which are now causing losses among the $266,000,000 worth of livestock on Illinois farms will be considered at the conference, but special attention will be given to mastitis in dairy cattle, rabies, Bang's disease and poultry diseases.

Another feature of the meeting will be a discussion of findings and results in the 23,000 specimens which veterinarians and livestock owners sent to the diagnostic laboratories of the animal pathology and hygiene division of the college during the past year.

Dr. Robert Graham, chief in animal pathology and hygiene at the agricultural college, will be in charge of the conference. He has been assisted in arranging the program by members of the Illinois State Veterinary Medical association.

Several Addresses Planned

Nine members of the agricultural college and university staff, nine members of the Illinois State Veterinary Medical association, three members of federal and state agencies and three representatives of other agricultural colleges will be among the speakers.

Representing federal and state agencies on the program will be J. J. Lintner, inspector in charge of Bang's disease control, U. S. bureau of animal industry, Chicago; H. C. Rinehart, chief veterinarian, state department of agriculture, Springfield, and W. Wisnicky, director of livestock sanitation, Wisconsin state department of agriculture, Madison.

The conference will close at noon, Saturday, Oct. 9, permitting those in attendance to see the Notre Dame-Illinois football game.

WEST BROOKLYN

By Henry Gehant

West Brooklyn — West Brooklyn high school began the school year with much new equipment, book shelves, laboratory material, many library books, basketball equipment and new dictionaries among the additions.

There are ten new students enrolled in the high school this year. The freshmen include: Alice Gehant, Arthur Michel, Cletus Jeanblanc, John Zinke Jr., and Lester Koehler. Lea Bieschke, Mary Halbmaier and Francis Michel are among the second year. The juniors are William Long Jr. and Dorothy Gehant.

Last week the freshmen were officially ushered into the high school by a gay initiation party. The gym class including the instructors hiked two miles north of town and there enjoyed a weiner roast. Later the upperclassmen led the freshmen to a very old house which they had been haunting that day. The initiators laughed while the freshmen went shivering through. One freshman gentleman was too terrified to consent to the trip.

Basket ball notes: Plans are being made for a basket ball team now that West Brooklyn is a member of the Meridian conference. The prospective players are: William Long, Francis Michel, Cletus Jeanblanc, John Zinke, Arthur Michel and Lester Koehler. Let's show the boys we appreciate their efforts by attending every game. West Brooklyn is particularly anxious to defeat Malta and Compton. Coach Walter's former affiliations.

Tuesday, Sept. 28, L. W. Miller and Dr. Vick inspected the school and its equipment. A report on their findings will later be published.

This year we have a new faculty consisting of Prof. Walter as principal and Miss Trotter, English, typing and Latin teacher. They are both graduates of the Northern Illinois State Teachers' college at De Kalb and taught last year at Malta high school.

The school social club was formed a few weeks ago with John Zinke as president, Dorothy Gehant, vice president and Lea Bieschke, secretary and treasurer.

SAVE LIVES WITH CONCRETE

Early in 1935, Chicago's noted suburb—Oak Park—widened one mile of Oak Park avenue about 10 feet and re-paved it with concrete.

Police records show the following contrast between traffic accidents in 1934 and 1935:

	Accidents 1934	1935	Decrease
Oak Park Avenue (repaved mile)...	31	23	25.8%
All other Oak Park Streets.....	646	610	5.6%
Ridgeland Avenue (mile).....	33	32	3.1%

The section of Ridgeland Avenue (not concrete) taken for comparison is parallel to Oak Park Avenue, crosses the same principal streets, and carries traffic of similar volume and character.

Concrete streets are safer because:

1. Skidding is reduced in all weather.
2. Visibility at night is excellent.
3. Concrete's true and even surface and low crown encourage traffic to use the whole street—passing is easier.

In addition to saving lives, concrete saves money. Concrete costs less to build than any other pavement of equal load carrying capacity—costs far less to maintain—costs motorists less for gas, tires and car repairs.

LAMOILLE

The Lamaille unit of the Home Bureau held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. Walter Dawson on Tuesday, the 28th. The principal business of the meeting was a review of last year's work and plans for the coming year. The following officers were elected: chairman, Mrs. Grace Neill; vice chairman, Mrs. Mary McCauley; secretary, Mrs. Dollena Lawson; treasurer, Mrs. Helen Hall. Mrs. Lois Wilson and Mrs. Emma Dayton gave a very instructive and interesting lesson on "Rug Making."

Mrs. Wilson is the local leader for handicraft work and gave information obtained at the local leaders' training school, Mrs. Dayton was a guest. She demonstrated various ways of making hooked, braided and crocheted rugs. It was a very interesting meeting and the Home Bureau wishes to thank Mrs. Dayton for her help in making it so.

The seniors, juniors and sophomores of the Lamaille community high school gave a party Friday night at the Community hall in order to initiate the freshmen. Games were played and a good time enjoyed by all.

Charlie Keutzer of Zeating was a caller Friday evening at the Clifford Maloy home.

There will be a dance Thursday evening, Oct. 7 at the Lamaille Community hall, given by the Pinoche club. Music by Snell's 6-piece orchestra.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church went to Malden on Sunday evening.

Todd Clark went to Dixon on Sunday on account of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Albert Tourtellot.

The Friendly Circle of the M. E. church will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gale Shields.

DAILY HEALTH

ABOUT BOILS

By Iago Galdston, M. D.

Physicians seldom treat boils—most often they treat maltreated boils. For boils usually begin as pimple-like formations and, after all, who isn't able to deal with a pimple?

So the "baby boil" has its head pin-pricked, is squeezed with neither tenderness or mercy and is swabbed and soaked. When, thanks to the maltreatment, the "pimple" has grown into a juicy, ripe, aching boil with a crop of secondary ones around it, expert treatment is finally sought.

A boil represents a local encounter between germ invaders and the body's defense forces, the white blood cells. The redness, swelling, heat and pain are the evidences of an inflammation. And the inflammation is the body's way of reacting to an attack. The invaders have been surrounded, they are being swallowed and destroyed by the white blood cells, millions of which will sacrifice their cellular selves for the sake of the cellular commonwealth of the body.

This war between the phagocytes (white blood cells) and the germs, frequently give rise to pus, the mixed bodies of invaders and defenders. Maltreating the boil, squeezing it or puncturing it prematurely or unskillfully, breaks down the surrounding wall of defense, which the body has formed about the process. Pressure forces bacteria and their products into the circulation. In a word, it harms rather than helps.

Hence, rest or immobilization is the best possible treatment for a boil, especially in its early stages. Avoid all pressure on the affected area, all friction and other forms of irritation or injury.

If the boil involves a portion of the arm or leg, it usually helps to elevate it. Put the arm in a sling and rest the leg in bed or on a chair.

Local applications may tend to help a little. Limit them to painting the surrounding skin with tincture of iodine, or to the application of hot boric acid dressings. Salves, irrigations and so forth are best used on the physician's prescription.

One other point must be borne in mind. A boil may be merely a local incident, or may point to a constitutional disorder. Hence, a thorough medical examination is indicated, especially when one is afflicted often or with many boils at once, or when slight injuries result in boil formations.

FAT LAMB PRICE TO HOLD LEVEL FOR FEW MONTHS

Top May Be Reached in Early Winter Says Economist

Prices Illinois farmers receive for fat lambs are expected to continue near present levels during the next few months, according to L. H. Simerl, extension specialist in agriculture, University of Illinois.

Lamb prices in the coming fed-lamb marketing season, December to April, probably will average about as high as those of last year, if consumer demands for meats and prices of wool are maintained near present levels, he explained. However, the seasonal swing in prices is likely to be different from what it was last year when the late feeder realized high prices in the late winter. Prices are more likely to follow the movement of two years ago when lamb prices were highest in early winter, it is believed.

Although marketings of lambs will be seasonally larger this fall than in the past summer, the effect on prices of the increased marketings will be largely offset by the prospective strong demand for feeder lambs in Illinois and other corn belt states, Simerl pointed out, basing his conclusions on a summary of the sheep and lamb situation prepared by the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics.

Feeders to Be High

Because of this strong demand for feeder lambs, as compared with prices for slaughter lambs, prices for feeder lambs will continue high during the fall months.

With much larger feed crops this year than last, the number of lambs fed in the corn belt this fall and winter is likely to be larger than the small number fed in that area in 1936-37.

Since the number of lambs fed in the western states in 1937-38 may be little different from that of a year earlier, the total number of lambs fed in the fall and winter probably will be larger than a year earlier. However, the supply of sheep and lambs marketed from sources other than feed lots may be smaller than in the previous year. Total slaughter supplies of sheep and lambs in the 1937-38 fed-lamb season, therefore, may be little different from those of the 1936-37 season.

Inspected slaughter of sheep and lambs in August was seasonally larger than in July and it was also larger than in August a year earlier. Short supplies of poultry will have a tendency to support lamb prices.

INFLATION

For some peculiar reason, Wall Street has not been disposed to discuss the possibilities of inflation recently. Possibly this is due to the fact that inflation is popularly linked with rising stock prices and after the drastic setback in the market recently it seems like a poor time to consider such a possibility. True, enough, there has been little in the action of commodity markets and in stock markets to suggest inflation lately and it is also true that the Administration touched off a deflationary movement when it started tightening reserve requirements, initiating a deflationary trend in bank credit that has persisted up to the present time.

But basically the budget is still unbalanced and shows no promise of equilibrium. The President on his special trip through the northwest is reported to be meeting with much local pressure for more generous relief outlays while back in Washington are a group of New Dealers who are prepared to tell him on his return that "economy" has been overdone and more pump priming is needed. If those facts are not sufficient to show the way the wind is blowing, there are the three rapid-fire moves of the Federal Reserve authorities recently, all designed to liberalize credit accommodations. The inflationary road may be thorny and it may be difficult to sell that viewpoint to someone who has just seen some of his stocks drop 30 to 40 points, but no one should have expected inflation to be a bed of roses. The unfortunate side of it is that it is difficult to encourage private capital under present circumstances, but the problem has been thrown back into the lap of the Government and the latter is being urged to do something about it.—Wall Street Journal.

NANKING NEW-OLD CHINA CAPITAL IN SPOTLIGHT

Name Dates Back To the Fifteenth Century; Rich In History

Intermittent raids on Nanking by Japanese airplanes again throw the spotlight on China's new-old capital, sprawling along the Yangtze River bank.

"Nanking is no stranger to either the forces of destruction, or to international attention," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "One of the oldest cities in China, it has been sacked and burned several times, and, as the ancient classical capital of China under the Ming Emperors, it has had its share of fame."

"Although it has been the official capital of China since 1927, until very recently the city has been largely a 'stepchild' to Peiping's politics and Shanghai's business interests."

Diplomacy Shifts Suddenly to Nanking

"When Japanese troops took control of North China and Peiping in August, and brought trade to a standstill in Shanghai last month, Nanking at once came to the forefront," continues the bulletin. "Former Nanking consulates or 'missions' of such outside powers as the United States, Italy, France, Great Britain and other countries began to function as full-fledged embassies or legations. Newspaper correspondents hurried to the capital, and the Yangtze River patrol, including U. S. Naval gunboats, took up stations off Nanking's docks."

"Nanking's name means 'south capital,' an honorary title dating from the transfer of the seat of government to Peking by the Ming Emperor Yung-lo in the 15th century. Parts of the vast crumbling city walls, the longest of any Chinese city, were built a hundred years before Columbus sailed for the New World. Yet today Nanking is one of China's most modern and fastest growing cities; its population having doubled since the central Government began to move in ten years ago."

"Central location, access to the sea via the deep-water Yangtze without being on the exposed coast, rich farming country nearby, and excellent rail and highway connections with Shanghai, China's mighty metropolis—these are reasons why Nanking has become a prosperous, teaming center of nearly 1,000,000 persons."

Trains Ferried Across Yangtze
"At Nanking, all passengers and freight travelling by rail between Shanghai and Peiping or Tientsin are ferried across the Yangtze. The city also is only a few miles upstream from the place where the busy Grand Canal crosses the river. "Like Shanghai, Nanking offers many contrasts between old and new. The central Government has spent much money in the capital, laying out wide boulevards and parks, and erecting concrete government office buildings and monuments. Like a button on a mandarin's cap the silver dome of China's National Observatory sits on the top of nearby Purple Mountain. Another showplace is the memorial hall and mausoleum of Sun Yat-sen, father of the Chinese Republic. The towers of Nanking's powerful radio station look down on a modern airport, the buildings of Nanking University, the blue and yellow 'White House' of the Republic, and the National Stadium.

"Yet everywhere there are bits of old China, some recalling the days of the Ming Emperors. Narrow side streets still are choked with carts, wheelbarrows, sedan chairs, and rickshaws. Sidewalk restaurants and open-air markets are unchanged. Tombs of the Ming Emperors at the ends of avenues flanked by carved stone animals, Buddhist temples and the crumbling city wall delight historians, and attract pilgrims from afar."

"The tempo of modern Nanking, however, is definitely Western. To its local industries, making porcelain, damask silk and fans, have been added large oil and shipping concerns along the Yangtze waterfront. The main part of the city lies about five miles back from the river. Taxicabs, busses, telephones, radios, night clubs, and outdoor sports for men and women are commonplace. Saturday nights at the International Club are gay, with diplomats and business representatives of all nations taking part."

Wallace Takes Hand In Meat Controversy

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace has taken a hand today in the controversy over wholesale meat prices in which 5,000 local kosher butcher shops have shut their doors.

Wallace agreed to confer Friday with Mayor Fiorella La Guardia, the mayor said, to hear charges by the kosher butchers that packers have created a "monopoly" in the nation's largest meat market. Representatives of the packers, the U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry and federal market experts will attend the conference.

Mayor La Guardia said City Market Commissioner William J. Morgan, Jr., would deal with the situation of the striking butchers provided further contentions that packers have substituted common beef cuts for prime cuts at exorbitant prices.

Packers, denying charges of either monopoly or "substitution," have blamed high prices as the natural economic aftermath of a meat shortage induced by drought and the government reduction program.

DeWitt Clinton was mayor of New York for three separate terms.

However, most of them will not have the nerve.

Should they challenge him, however, Justice Black alone will have the right to say whether or not he is prejudiced and should step aside. It is a rule of the Court that each individual Justice must decide this for himself. His own conscience is his guide. There is no further appeal.

Roosevelt Satisfied
Close White House advisers claim that the President is sitting pretty on the Supreme Court issue now. He can take one of two courses:

1. Wait for the events indicated by any insurance company's actuarial table, and appoint definitely liberal Justices whenever a vacancy occurs.

2. Resume his fight only if the Court should go reactionary. So long as the Court remains liberal Roosevelt is getting what he wants—the O. K. of his New Deal legislation.

However, those who study Hughes' strategy don't think the Court will go reactionary. The Chief Justice's basic policy last year was to make his colleagues so docile as to remove the reason for Roosevelt's court reform. In this he succeeded.

The question now is whether he can, or wants to, keep them that way. If not, it is a good bet the White House will trot out another Court reform bill.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TOO GENTLE FOR WAR

(Detroit Times)

Reflection on the proposed use of acetyl choline, a faint-producing chemical, to make war 'human' serves only to emphasize war's inescapable barbarity.

The proposal was made to the American Chemical society meeting. Acetyl choline introduced in the bloodstream lowers blood pressure so suddenly as to induce a dead faint. Impregnated in shells of some porous substance, it would produce this instant result in anyone suffering the slightest scratch from a shell fragment. Recovery brings no ill effects. Whole regiments, said the speaker, might be put out of action and captured with few, if any, fatalities.

But view the matter practically. Who will use this benign chemical? What nation at war will prefer it to the more deadly shrapnel? Or, to put the case as brutally as it deserves, what nation will prefer to burden itself with a live captive who might as easily be dead or hopelessly mutilated?

The answer, as war is waged these days, is self-evident. If shells are to be impregnated with anything, the substance more likely will be a lethal poison. And that prospect itself seems less rhetorical than actual, as one remembers what has happened meanwhile to the humane rules of war projected by the pre-war Hague conferences.

War was more humane, to call it that, in the days of chivalry, when it had some of the aspects of a sport. Since then, it has grown more serious and more and more brutal. Short of extermination, there seems to be no way of reversing that trend, so tragic in its meaning to humanity.

HE DIDN'T ANSWER EITHER

At Fort Peck Sunday Mr. Roosevelt assailed "doubting Thomases" who criticized his program, said the Associated Press. Among them he spoke of an unnamed New York newspaper owner who came to see him about balancing the federal treasury's books.

Mr. Roosevelt said he asked the publisher if he ever read the budget, and the man replied that he had not. Asked how much he would save on the budget, the man replied "two or three billion a year."

When he asked where the saving could be accomplished, the president said, the publisher "hemmed and hawed" and could not say.

All that is very deftly done, but Mr. Roosevelt again depends upon his hearers to have short memories or to care nothing about past happenings.

Let us recall that all that is related by a man who made a campaign upon a platform pledge that he would "accomplish a saving of not less than 25 percent in the cost of federal government."

There were questioners on the public platforms in those days, too. Repeatedly they asked Mr. Roosevelt, the candidate, where he was going to cut the expenditures of the federal government.

He didn't even "hem and haw". He ignored the questions entirely and went here and there getting votes on pledges that never were kept.

So, while the president happily makes a point against the New York publisher and his audience enjoys the manner in which he is able to squelch doubting Thomases, it never occurred to anybody probably that the man who was telling that story had made a campaign on the pledge to reduce by 25 per cent the cost of federal government, and that since his election he has created a hundred bureaus instead of eliminating them as pledged, and that he has run up a federal debt to 36 billions, not millions. Each billion is a thousand millions.

To have carried out his pledge to the people of the United States he would have had to reduce the federal expenditures 1 billion a year. In four years he added 15 billions of debt.

It is a fine feeling to be able to have confidence in a man regardless of what he says.

O'BRIAN MUST CHOOSE

The Northwest Iowa Methodist conference has given notice to Secretary of State Robert E. O'Brien that he must choose between being a Methodist minister and a democratic politician, which at least calls public attention to the points that O'Brien is a democrat and a Methodist.

Secretary of State O'Brien formerly was president of Morningside college, a Methodist institution located at Sioux City. We are not advised as to his prior service to the democratic party, but when a vacancy occurred in the office of secretary of state, Dr. O'Brien next turned up as secretary of state.

When the conference was in session Bishop Oxnam announced that O'Brien was continued in his super-numerary relationship, but that he would be informed in writing that he must resume his ministerial role in the next conference year or face one of two possible actions: The conference can locate him in a charge without his permission or it can deprive him of the right to exercise a minister's duties.

The Associated Press enlightens us as to the status, the action of the conference, and the rule governing such cases, but it doesn't indicate why the conference is intent upon kicking him either upstairs or downstairs. The rule hanging over the head of the ministerial secretary of state, who also is director of the highway police, follows:

"Whenever it is determined by the committee on conference relations that, in their judgment, a member of the annual conference is unacceptable, inefficient, or indifferent in the work of the ministry, or that his conduct is such as to impair his usefulness as a minister, or that his engagement in secular business, except as required by the ill health of himself or of his family, disqualifies him for pastoral work, they shall notify him in writing and ask him to request location at the next session of the annual conference. If he refuses or neglects to locate as requested, the conference may, by count vote, on recommendation of the committee on conference relations, locate him without his consent, or deprive him of the right to exercise the ministerial office."

Where to Go This Coming Week-End

By DEDE WELCH

Secretary Dixon Branch Chicago Motor Club

Are you a little tired of the ordinary run of things to see and do, after a summer of hard week ends spent looking at scenery and eating picnic lunches on Sundays? Here's a suggestion for those of you who want to do something different—especially for those of you who are collectors, of antiques, stamps, anecdotes or characters.

Beyond Starved Rock in Illinois, is the little town of Spring Valley, turn south on Ill. 89, then west as it turns. Just a little way you come to Granville, a squat, dirty little mining town at first glance. Don't be dismayed, for here you'll find a rear treasure—a man you'll be telling your friends about for years to come.

Jack Redshaw is his name, and he is the modern Trader Horn. Here is a man who had an idea, an unlimited amount of faith in it, and his ability to judge human nature. There probably lies the secret of his success that has today made him internationally known.

He will buy, sell or trade anything you want. A warehouse with a capacity of 15 or 20 carloads is filled to overflowing with everything you ever heard of and you cannot mention anything that he does not have or cannot get.

If your taste runs to expensive tapestries, priceless paintings, exotic perfumes, exquisite china, luxurious furs, bits of carved ivory, or a lovely piece of jade, he will supply your wants. Perhaps it is a motor boat you are interested in? Or maybe you are a collector of obsolete firearms? He will show you a pigeon blood ruby worth a King's ransom, or a portable cement mixer. His collection of old coins would turn a numismatist green with envy.

You cannot help but wonder how one man could amass such an amazing and bewildering array.

of those "long remember trips."

Today's News From Amboy

By RUTH RUSSELL, Reporter

Amboy—It was announced today that Banta's ice cream store will close for the season, probably at the end of this week.

Charles Whitebread, manager of the Lee County Service company, announced today that he and the board of directors of the company will attend the annual meeting of the Illinois Farm Supply company in Peoria Oct. 20.

Saturday is Homecoming at the Amboy high school when the local football team will engage the Polo eleven.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brink entertained the members of their bridge club at their home Tuesday night. Mrs. Beulah Western of Polo visited her sister, Mrs. Anita Vaughan last week end.

William Welty was able to leave the hospital yesterday where he has been since an operation recently. City Clerk Treadwell and Councilman Clark report that the city council met Tuesday night to take care of routine business.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Griffith will attend the Notre Dame-Illinois football game at Champaign Saturday afternoon.

Journalism Club

An organization meeting of the new journalism club was held at the high school yesterday morning under the supervision of Miss Mildred M. Winsett of the faculty. There are 19 members of the club and yesterday officers for the year were elected. Carah Calhoun was chosen president; Mary Kehoe, vice president; Marjorie McKeown, secretary; and Helen Fanelli, treasurer. The club cooperates with the Amboy News in printing stories of the high school. Various assignments are given to the students and an award will be presented at the end of the year to the person having the largest number of words in his or her clipping book. The purpose of the organization as explained by Miss Winsett, is to combine social activity with training in objective writing. It is hoped, she continued, that the class work will enable the students to write accurately and with easy expression even though he may not follow a journalistic career.

Students from the senior class of the club will be selected soon as a staff for the school's year book. This book is entirely a senior publication and its publication will be the work for next semester.

A Wiener roast is planned for a future date by the social committee of the organization.

New Pond

In the opinion of Harry Badger, director of the First National bank, the new pond created by the excavation of gravel for the concrete paving will make an excellent location for winter and summer sports. An enormous basin has been filled by water from the Green river west of the Illinois Central railroad tracks. In some places the water is reported to be 30 feet deep and filtered through gravel it is very clean and will make an excellent pool for swimming. In winter, Mr. Badger said, the pond can be used for skating. At present the Edward M. Rocho Paving Construction company of Freeport occupies the location where they dredged and washed tons of gravel daily, much of which was used in paving the 13 mile extension of Route 71 north-east of Amboy which has recently been completed except for work on the shoulders.

Arrest Two in West For Chicago Robbery

Estancia, N. M., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Sheriff J. Frank of Torrance county said two men arrested at Flagstaff, Ariz., would be charged with the robbery and kidnapping of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lundberg of Chicago.

The Lundbergs said two bandits held them up near Palma, about 35 miles east of here, as they were on a vacation trip. After forcing them to drive several miles at gun point, the bandits, Lundberg said, robbed them and held them captive several hours.

The sheriff said he understood the Lundbergs' watches, a diamond ring and other personal effects had been recovered.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. This reminds me of the man who was asked if he had been up in the Empire State and Rockefeller Center buildings and replied, "Why, I live in New York." As I look across Central park, I see the Metropolitan Art Gallery, and down the street two blocks is the American Museum—largest in the world, yet I have not been in them in five years. People come from all over the world to see these things and, some day I am going to see them too, and see New York, where I have lived many years.

They appreciate the approval of their mothers as well, but, of the two sanctions, that of their own crowd far outweighs that of their

Funeral Is Held For Noted Farm Lecturer

Gilman, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Funeral services for Frank Irving Mann, farm expert, writer and lecturer, were held Wednesday under a cypress tree he planted on his farm estate 50 years ago. The casket was made of cypress, his favorite wood.

mothers in importance. Isn't this a wholesome thing for mothers to know? I certainly think it is a good thing to know and a thing to co-operate with and not to fight.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Certainly. In that amazing new book, "A Mind Mislaid," by Henry Collins Brown, in which he details how he cured himself of the nervous and mental breakdown which he suffered at age 65, he tells us that a lot of the patients in the hospital for insane where he was confined, were apparently there as the result of getting raging mad on all occasions. There is also some evidence that frequent outbursts of temper is a type, or, as the doctors say, a "clinical equivalent" of epilepsy.

Grade "A" School Dress Wears Well, Is Easily Cleaned

Urbana, Ill. — School dresses which rate the "A" grade this fall and winter will be made for comfort, simplicity, color, easy cleaning and a long life, says Miss Edna Gray, extension specialist in clothing, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Just as a good background of study leads to high grades in school-work, so does the fundamental make-up of the fabric which goes into the frock lead to durability, fine service and style. Simplicity both as to fabric and fabric design are considered best for children's clothing. This factor may readily be achieved during the 1937-38 season, since tailored school clothes are proving popular, Miss Gray reports.

Fabrics made from hard-twisted yarns are thought to resist wrinkling, and to hold pleats the best, although they may be more difficult to clean than open weave materials of loosely-twisted yarns. Homemakers viewing fabrics from the wrinkle standpoint generally find that wool smooths out again after wrinkling, that pure dye silk although rather expensive does little wrinkling, that crepes because of their weave wrinkle less than other materials, that prints or patterned materials show wrinkles and soil less than plain materials and that linens and cottons may be given a wrinkle-resistant finish, but it is not guaranteed and may come out after a series of wash days.

From the laundering standpoint the fabric which does not have either the very hard twist or very loose twist in yarns is expected to clean with the best result. Hard-twisted yarns do not give up the soil readily, while loose-twisted yarns stretch out of shape. Shrinkage may be avoided by purchasing materials which carry a guarantee against shrinking any more than one-fourth inch in either direction. Likewise fading may be avoided by choosing vat-dyed cottons and linens.

Since ironing is a major part of the routine for keeping clothes in condition, Miss Gray thinks it is well to remember that some synthetics, either used alone or in popular combination with other fibers for dress material, are melted if pressed with too hot an iron and do not return to their original condition when laundered or dry cleaned. A luke-warm iron is advised. Prior to purchasing of a garment with mixed fibers, such as rayon and wool, a recommended practice is to clean and press a sample to see how it behaves.

A final point for school clothes is plenty of roominess which permits friction between the dress and coat or between dress and undergarments have been found to make the child ill at ease in the school.

W. C. T. U. Outlines Six Major Topics

Newly-elected officers of the Lee county W. C. T. U. met recently in executive session to formulate plans for the coming year's activities. It was decided to concentrate on six major departments of interest and work, and county directors of these departments were appointed as follows: Bible in public schools, Miss Callie Morgan of Dixon; flower mission and relief, Miss Edith Fell of Amboy; medal contests, Mrs. A. S. Derr of Dixon; religious education, Mrs. O. D. Buck of Franklin Grove; scientific temperance instruction, Mrs. Mary Schmah of Amboy; young people's work, Mrs. C. A. Blocher of Franklin Grove.

Crouse Family Entertains For George Smiths

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crouse and family entertained at the Crouse home Sunday in honor of the 12th wedding anniversary of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Smith and their children. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Crouse and little daughter Joan of Pontiac, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crouse and little son Robert of Oregon, Chester Deadmond of Dixon, Alvin Black of Oregon, and D. A. Howard. All spent a most enjoyable time.

Friends, Relatives Observe Birthday Of Mrs. O. Morris

Last Wednesday evening Miss Mildred and Edith Morris invited about 40 relatives and friends in and surprised their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Morris and family, it being Mrs. Morris' birthday. Mildred Morris had baked a beautiful angel food cake and the girls decorated it in pink and green with a candle for each birthday. Sandwiches, cake, cookies and pickles were served for refreshments.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morris and little daughter Donna, Walter Pitzer, Ralph Yocum, Mrs. Bill Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Spangler and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Spangler and family all of Dixon, Mrs. Good of Polo, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hinzelman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Withey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller and son Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shriver and son Homer, all of Franklin Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson of Ashton, and Mr. and Mrs. Derrice Eakle of Oregon.

Harms-Slothower Wedding Set For Friday, Oct. 22nd

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Slothower of Rochelle announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Jean, to Earl Harms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harms.

The wedding will be an event of Friday, Oct. 22, which is also the date of the silver wedding anniversary of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harms.

The ceremony will take place at the Slothower home in Rochelle and will be followed by a wedding luncheon at the Collier hotel. Miss Jean Koerber will be Miss Slothower's attendant and Robert Tilton is to serve as best man.

Both the prospective bride and groom are graduates of the Rochelle township high school, and are employed in the offices of the California Packing Corporation.

Alice Brechon, James O'Brien Wed at Walton

St. Mary's Catholic church in Walton was the scene of a very pretty wedding Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, when Miss Alice Brechon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules Brechon of Walton, became the bride of James O'Brien Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James I. O'Brien of Nachusa.

Promptly at the appointed time, the strains of the organ announced the arrival of the bridal party and after the march to the sanctuary they were met by Rev. F. B. Dickman, uncle of the bridegroom, who performed the single ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial high mass. Present in the sanctuary were Rev. Fr. Kennedy and Rev. Fr. Walsh of Dixon. The ceremony was attended by a host of relatives and friends.

The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white chrysanthemums, the chosen colors of the bride.

The couple was attended by Miss Francis Brechon, of Aurora, sister of the bride and Frances O'Brien, brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were Sylvester Brechon, brother of the bride and Daniel O'Brien, brother of the groom. Acolytes were Edward Conroy and Robert Blackburn, nephew and cousin of the bride. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ackert. The bride's gown was a princess model of white chiffon cutout velvet, having a Queen Anne collar held with a pearl clip, long sleeves which ended in points over the wrists, and skirt falling into a short train. Her finger tip veil was held by a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of brier cliff roses.

After the ceremony a bounteous three course wedding breakfast was served at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, to the immediate relatives. A three tier wedding cake, over which hung a huge white wedding bell, formed the center piece of the table. The home was beautifully decorated in the chosen colors of the bride. Catering at the breakfast were Mrs. Amanda Fisher, assisted by Mrs. Carl Ackert. Immediately following the breakfast the happy couple left for a wedding trip in the east. Mrs. O'Brien's traveling costume was a brown crepe ensemble, with accessories en costume. The bride is one of Walton's most popular and charming young ladies. She graduated from Dixon high school and since that time has been teaching in this community. Her husband has been engaged in farming on his father's farm and is a very worthy and capable young man. Beautiful gifts received, attest the popularity in which both the bride and groom are held and their many friends join in wishing them happiness and success. They will be at home, until March on the James O'Brien Sr. farm near Nachusa.

Out of town guests present at the wedding were: Rev. F. B. Dickman, Clara Dickman, Wapella, Ill.; Rev. Fr. Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brechon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Brechon and family of Dixon; Bernard Dickman, San Francisco, Calif.; Mike, John and Eileen O'Brien, Camp Grove, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Valery Costello, Charlotte, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ross, Margaretta O'Brien, Moline, Ill.; Mrs. Charles Atkinson and family of Camanche, Iowa.

The local committee of the Elks for the care of handicapped children, of which Harry Warner is state chairman, contributed largely to the success of the venture, and inspired by the success of this clinic the society hopes to have another in the near future.

Among the out-of-town persons present were: Frank White, district chairman of the Elks committee for handicapped children, and Dr. Longman, both of Evanston, and Dr. Harmon of Springfield, director of the organization.

ONE KILLED AND 14 INJURED, BUS SMASHES AUTO

Motion Picture Operator Victim of Fatal Tragedy

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—(AP)—One man was killed and 14 persons were injured today in a crash between an automobile and a Chicago-to-St. Louis bus on state highway 99 in northeast St. Louis county.

The man killed was Paul Anthony, 27 year old motion picture operator of St. Louis, who was driving alone in the automobile. The car was wrecked so badly it was necessary to burn away part of the metal with torches to remove the body.

The bus, owned by the Deluxe Motor Stages of Illinois, carried 15 passengers, some of whom were asleep when the collision occurred. The impact knocked the front wheels off the bus and it overturned in a shallow ditch.

The injured, taken to hospitals in the Clarend county, included: Jack Browning, 31, of St. Louis, the bus driver, head and chest injuries.

Richard Nathan, 24, Chicago, injured shoulder.

James Hunt, Negro, Chicago, minor injuries.

Michael Dobrinich, 28, Lovings-ton, Ill., minor injuries.

Bus passengers told county authorities Anthony's automobile swayed from side to side of the road as it approached. The bus driver pulled off to the shoulder of the road, but could not avoid being struck, they said.

Police Following Slim Clues, Hunt Torture Slayers

Lakeland, Fla., Oct. 7.—(AP)—City and county police followed slim clues today in their hunt for the torture slayers of handsome 200-pound Douglas Beane.

Assistant State Attorney J. C. Rogers said he believed a band of men tortured Beane, mutilated his body and dumped him in a lonely "Lovers' Lane" near Lake Deerson.

He said brutality of the crime detected a revenge motive.

Rogers said Beane apparently was killed Tuesday.

Beane, an electrician employed by the Atlantic coast line railroad, was 49.

SIGNS STOLEN

Two traffic signs reading, "No Parking Between Signs," with raised letters in red on a white background, 12 by 18 inches and a 39 inch standard, was today reported stolen from the east side of the Dixon Evening Telegraph office on Ottawa avenue.

CO. CLERK INJURED

Sidney J. Hess, Ogle county clerk, well known throughout northern Illinois, suffered a fracture of the socket joint of his right hip in a fall at his home in Oregon last evening, and is now a patient in St. Anthony's hospital in Rockford. His many friends will hope for his early recovery from the serious injury.

IN TRAFFIC COURT

Delbert Pittman appeared before Justice Fremont Kaufman in traffic court last evening and paid a fine of $5 and costs charged with a violation of one of the city's traffic regulation ordinances. Pittman was arrested by Patrolman Harry Fischer on a charge of hauling passengers on the running board and fenders of his car.

TOOLS STOLEN

Fred Albrecht, plasterer at the new grade school building on Lincoln avenue, today reported to the police the theft of tools valued at about $50 during the night. A steel, rubber tire wheelbarrow, a 30 gallon steel drum of gasoline, shovel, levels and other tools were reported to have been stolen and the police are conducting an investigation.

TROPHY PRESENTED

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Thompson were in Sycamore Tuesday evening where they attended a banquet which honored the members of the Junior Legion drum and bugle corps of that city, winners of the first prize at the Fall Festival contest here last Thursday evening. Mr. Thompson made the presentation speech at the conclusion of the banquet and delivered the beautiful silver loving cup trophy which was won by the corps. Each member of the corps was also awarded a badge emblematic of the fine showing in the Chicago and Music Festival held during the summer months.

EXCHANGE VIEWS

By The Associated Press
London, Oct. 7.—Britain and France began today a preliminary exchange of views with the United States on convocation of a nine-power conference in an effort to curb the Sino-Japanese war, with the possibility the conference will be held in Washington.

Officials would not say whether a flat request had been made to hold the nine-power parley in Washington, but they did point to suitability of the American capital which in 1922 was the scene of negotiation for the nine-power treaty, guaranteeing territorial integrity of China.

There were indications Washington had been asked whether, in its opinion, the nine-power parley should be held there.

The United States state department's formal condemnation of Japan was regarded as virtual acceptance of the League of Nations' invitation to signatories of the nine-power Washington pact to consider ways of making good their guarantee of the territorial integrity of China.

President Roosevelt's call Tuesday for concerted action against aggressor nations and his state department's declaration yesterday against Japan were construed as a partial shouldering of the Oriental trouble, permitting Britain, with France, to concentrate on a showdown in the European crisis that grew out of the 14-months-old civil war in Spain.

JAPS CONVOKE MEETING

Tokyo, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Japanese statesmen were called into emergency session at the foreign office today immediately on receipt of news from Washington that the United States had condemned Japan's invasion of China as a violation of her treaty obligations.

No immediate reply was expected to the formal statement of the American state department, accusing Japan of violation of the nine-power pact guaranteeing China's territorial integrity.

The Domei (Japanese) news agency quoted unnamed foreign office officials as saying "Japan is confident she will prove equal to the contingency" even in the face of any concrete measures the powers might take.

The foreign office felt certain, in the light of the state department statement, Domei said, that the Washington powers would meet in answer to a call from the League of Nations but "in the event of such convocation Japan will not participate." Japan is a signatory of the nine-power treaty.

"No matter what decision such a conference should take," Domei quoted the foreign office officials, "whether moral pressure, concrete measures or material sanctions against Japan, the empire's fundamental policy will remain unchanged."

The Japanese government was taken completely off guard by the American condemnation, one of the highest government officials said. "We are badly surprised and completely bewildered," he declared.

Nanking, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek declared today President Roosevelt's exposition of the sanctity of treaties gratified not only the suffering people of China, but all weak nations.

Furthermore, he added, the United States' president's statement was gratifying to those greater nations which realize that enduring peace can only be built upon foundations of strict international morality.

In an interview with The Associated Press, the premier leader of China said:

"Happily we learn that the state department in Washington had condemned actions of aggression. For this upholding of international faith, justice and the sanctity of treaties, I am profoundly moved."

LEAGUE READY TO ACT

Geneva, Oct. 7.—(AP)—League of Nations circles predicted today the nine-power conference will declare immediately that Japan violated the nine-power pact.

Quick action, placing the stigma of aggression upon Japanese militarists, it was declared, was in line with general Geneva sentiment.

Those circles said a report from Tokyo that Japan would not participate in the conference caused no surprise. The league report and assembly resolution on the Sino-Japanese situation left the conviction Japan would boycott the projected conference.

BLUM COMING TO U. S.

Paris, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Former Premier Leon Blum will go to the United States to confer with President Roosevelt, probably to discuss war debts and general Franco-American cooperation, it was learned authoritatively today.

FALL STYLES TO BE EXHIBITED LIVING MODELS

Vaile & O'Malley's and Kathryn Beard Shoppe will present their models in the annual fall style show at the Dixon theater tonight and tomorrow evening, the performance to be featured by a mock wedding ceremony.

Acting as the bride in the ceremony will be Myrtis Hammond, and Robert Bovey will be the bridegroom. The style show will feature on living models the very latest fashions in fall wear for both men and women.

The V. & O. models are Oscar Witzleb, Robert Bovey, Ted Legner, Vernon Swan, Robert Eno, and Lloyd Muzzey. The Kathryn Beard shoppe models include Mrs. Lois Wolf, Mrs. Esther Burks, Elsie Neff, Pearl Neff, Leona Gouding, Leona Ort, Polly Woodruff, Myrtis Hammond, Emily Swan, Gladys Ambrose, Faith Finch, and Maxine McGinnis.

Edward Stewart will sing several musical selections accompanied by the piano by Miss Myrtle Bishop. The show will be presented between the feature moving pictures.

WALDORF OPEN FOR SURPRISE BY WILDCATS

Expects Anything Might Happen In Big 10 Opener

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Nothing that happens when his boys start defending their Big Ten title against Michigan Saturday is going to surprise Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern's Wildcats.

The Wildcats of 1936 stirred up a lot of surprises for Waldorf, most of them easy to take. This year, however, there are so many green heads operating where veterans held forth in the big title drive that he needs a couple of games to get an idea of what to expect. He figures Michigan will clarify the situation.

"I don't know how to figure these kids yet," he said. "Last year we had experienced boys who fooled me by coming along much faster than I thought possible. This year's first team looks fairly good now, but the reserves, who made the team what it was a year ago, are still so many question marks."

The Wildcats have been drilled most of this week on ways and means of looking after two Michigan sophomore backs, squatty Hercules Rends and triple-threat Fred Trosko.

Drill Against Formations
Most of yesterday's session was devoted to drilling against formations built around the first-year pair. The Wolverines spent another day on fundamentals.

At Illinois, Coach Bob Zuppke showed signs of optimism for the first time this season as his squad produced real drive in offensive maneuvers with which he hopes to surprise Notre Dame Saturday. The Irish got another warning from Elmer Layden in the form of a forward pass defense session, indicating the Irish coach is certain Zuppke will come up with something unusual.

While Indiana hustled through a workout on running and aerial plays to be used at Minnesota Saturday, the Gophers were given another dose of fundamentals by Bernie Bierman. Wisconsin and Chicago, which tangle at Chicago, staged pleasing offensive showings in their final hard workouts.

Coach Mal Elward strove for more "umph" in Purdue's offense as the Boilermakers polished their game for Carnegie Tech's invasion. Iowa, with Bradley coming up Saturday, continued to look ahead to the Wisconsin clash next week. Ohio State, enroute to its battle with Southern California at Los Angeles, whipped through a brief workout at Stagg field, Chicago's home park.

BELOIT PLAYS CORNELL NEXT AFTER DEFEAT

Recovering from a stunning 27-0 setback at the hands of Lake Forest college here last Friday night, a spirited Beloit college eleven is hard at work in preparation for their first Midwest Conference game against Cornell college Saturday, Oct. 8.

Todd Oschenslager, veteran guard from Aurora, and one of the standouts in the Gold line, will be lost to the Beloit squad for at least two weeks. A skin wound on his knee has now developed into a serious infection and unless he gives it some well needed rest he is apt to be out for the remainder of the season. Oschenslager was sent to the hospital immediately following Friday night's game and will re-

MRS. OPAL HILL CONVINCED LUCK COMING HER WAY

Thirteenth Effort To Win; She Enters the Quarterfinals

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 7.—(AP)—After 12 years of fruitless sniping at the women's national golf championship, Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City entered the quarterfinals today, convinced that "this is my year."

The sturdy fairway veteran, mother of a 22-year-old son, reached the semi-finals in three other years "but something always happened. Maybe this 13th effort will be my lucky year."

In advancing to the quarterfinals, the Kansas City Star ousted a former champion, Marion Hollins of California, and Marion Miley of Cincinnati, a pre-tournament favorite.

Her opponent today was Mrs. Gregg Lifer of Pacific Palisades, Cal.

Mrs. Hill Lost In '33
Mrs. Lifer, victor yesterday over Barbara Ransom of Stockton, Cal., 2 and 1, defeated Mrs. Hill in the western amateur in 1933.

In other matches today, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Greensboro, N. C., medalist, engaged Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Texas; Kathryn Hemphill, 1936, semi-finalist from Columbia, S. C., played Mrs. Charles Newbold of Wichita, Kan., and Patty Berg of Minneapolis met Mrs. Willard E. Shepherd, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Shepherd erased lanky Clara Callender of Del Monte, Cal., yesterday, 2 up. Miss Berg trimmed Hilda Urbanke of Austin, Texas 3 and 1, and Mrs. Newbold eliminated Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Philadelphia, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Dan Chandler, five down at the turn, overcame the deficit to defeat Mrs. R. M. Torgerson of Queens Valley, N. Y., 1 up in 21 holes, and Mrs. Page won an impressive 5 and 3 victory over Jean Bauer of East Providence, R. I. Miss Hemphill squeezed out a 2 up decision over Mrs. Jane Cothran Jameson, Greenville, S. C.

main there until the latter part of this week.

To reinforce this gap in the line Coach Bud Butler has shifted Bob Anderson, husky tackle, to a guard post and sent Bruce Duncan, burlly 220 pound guard to Anderson's station in the line. This change should bolster the Beloit line to its greatest strength minus the services of Oschenslager. The injury jinx also struck one of the Beloit flankmen when Russ Hamacheck, shifty sophomore end, threw his knee out of joint against Lake Forest. It appears very doubtful that Hamacheck will see much action against the Purple gridders this Saturday.

Although the score indicates a very poor showing made by the Beloit eleven, such was not the case. The Gold pressed deep into their opponent's territory five times during the course of the game, but each time the Lake Forest line held. A clever aerial attack coupled with a shifty running game put the Beloit gridders to rout.

In practice sessions this week Butler is stressing blocking, a weak factor on the Beloit team so far this season. The Gold coach seems satisfied with the work of his backfield, and it appears very probable he will start the same combination he used against Lake Forest.

ANOTHER NEGRO HEAVYWEIGHT IS TITLE PROSPECT

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Another young Negro heavyweight with dynamite in his fists, Lem Franklin of Cleveland, is out looking for top flight opposition.

Franklin, graduate of the Golden Gloves which started Joe Louis on his way to the heavyweight championship of the world, just about stole the opening boxing show of Chicago's indoor season at the stadium last night, with a two-round knockout triumph over Max Zona, a durable Chicago heavyweight who never had been flattened before. Franklin dropped Zona four times in the first round of a scheduled five-rounder and finished him off with a terrific right cross late in the second. It was his second knockout victory in three professional starts.

In the main bout of the show which was presented before a disappointingly small crowd of 4,265, Harry Thomas of Eagle Bend, Minn., outpointed Max Marek of Chicago, in a bruising 10-rounder to win the Illinois heavyweight championship. The program, promoted by Mique Malloy, drew a gross gate of $7,200.

Giants Bruised But Still Defiant Depend on Cliff Melton To Even Series

Looks Like Yankee Games This Week 4-Game Parade To Crown

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Bruised by Yankee bats but defiant still, the jittery Giants pinned their faith on Cliff Melton, the gawky freshman from the mountains, to square accounts today and keep them in the running for the winner's share of the World Series swag.

After yesterday's exhibition, when 60,000 fans saw the Giants' pitching and defense fall apart at once, it looked a forlorn hope. Yet the Giants and their followers were sure that Melton, who can pitch like all get-out, would put them even up again.

Melton, skinning off his uniform in the funeral Giant dressing room after yesterday's 8 to 1 rout, said: "I'll sure be in there trying." Granted that he would do his very best and grit his teeth on every throw, the fact remained that the Yankees had obtained an important jump by shelling Carl Hubbell from the premises in the opener.

Big Bats Murderous
If Lefty Gomez throttled the Giants yesterday, holding them to a single run on three bunched hits in the fifth inning, there was little reason to suspect that his big, right-handed teammate, Rufus (The Red) Ruffing, might not do the same today. Things, in other words, looked gloomy for the "Jints." Unless Melton comes through, it may be all over in a hurry.

The spot wasn't calculated to appeal to a first-year pitcher—not even one as insensible to excitement as Melton appears to be. He knows, doubtless, that no freshman ever won a World Series game. And he couldn't have helped seeing the roof fall in on Hubbell in the sixth inning yesterday.

There's something about the way those Yankees pile into a pitcher the instant he even appears to hesitate that gives you the shakes clear up in the second tier of the stands. Melton is bound to have that same feeling today, like he is toying with fused dynamite.

Another thing, the Mountaineer can't feel quite so sure of his support after having watched the incomparable Hubbell get his lumps in yesterday's nightmarish sixth inning, when the Yanks scored seven of their eight runs.

With the right kind of infield defense behind him, Carlos could have escaped with maybe a run or two. That is something Giant pitchers have learned to expect. Yet when Hubbell momentarily lost what his batterymate, Gus Mancuso, called "the fine edge of his stuff," his supporting cast promptly went to pieces. That, as Manager Bill Terry admitted later, is bad.

Giant Collapse Strange
It was strange to see as good a ball club as the Giants undoubtedly are go to pot that way. Just before it happened Hubbell had retired 14 straight Yankees. He had them badly puzzled, biting at his screwball. The Giants looked smart and confident.

Then Hubbell's first pitch in the sixth nearly beamed Gomez. The Yankee hurler, who can't hit a lick, dropped into the dirt and took a long time getting ready to bat again. Some thought the incident might have shaken Hubbell, but the Giant leftie said not in the clubhouse.

Anyway, he walked Gomez, and that appeared to open the flood gates. Before it ended the Yankees had made seven runs on five hits, four walks and errors by Dick Bartell and Burgess Whitehead. What had promised to be a thrilling game became a farce, and the fans began to leave. The home run that Tony Lazzeri hit off Al Smith, fourth Giant pitcher, in the eighth inning, didn't matter at all.

Terry was inclined to blame the debacle on the fact that Bartell, after taking Gus Mancuso's perfect

MINISTERS ARE AGAINST COURT SCHEME OF FDR

Methodist Clergymen in Conference Also Say 'No Third Term'

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—An attempt to change the method of pension payments for ministers was blocked at the Rock River Methodist Episcopal church conference last night by Bishop Ernest G. Richardson of Philadelphia.

He overruled a motion presented by the Rev. A. Lincoln Shute, retired, of Penney Farms, Fla., which protested against having retirement payments on years of service in each conference.

Bishop Richardson said the law governing pension payments was adopted by the General Conference—the supreme authority of the church, and could not be overruled by any action at an annual conference.

In addresses before more than 300 delegates, Harry Wells, of Evanston, vice president of Northwestern University, and Dr. Dan Brummitt, of Kansas City, editor of the Reformed Christian Advocate, stressed the need of a revived Christianity.

Eight conference members who died during the last year were memorialized at the annual conference memorial and communion service yesterday. They were the Revs.: W. H. Tuttle, of Belvidere, last surviving G. A. R. veteran among the conference members; A. E. Foster of Rockford; Frederick C. Elsen, former president of the Garrett Biblical Institute of Evanston; George C. Carswell, Timothy Frost, Truman R. Green, A. C. Gruber and Henry Wagner.

Among today's speakers at the conference was Attorney R. Allen Stephens of Springfield.

AGAINST THIRD TERM

Methodist Episcopal clergymen at the conference are for the most part opposed to a third term for President Roosevelt and are not in sympathy with his court reform plan, a poll conducted by a Rockford newspaper at the opening session disclosed.

Almost three-to-one, pastoral delegates representing Methodist Episcopal churches in the upper tier of Illinois counties, interviewed yesterday at the conference session, voiced disapproval of the President's court reform proposal as originally submitted to congress.

Keen Interest in Issues

Of every six pastors interviewed, only one favored returning President Roosevelt to office for an unprecedented third term. The actual vote, reduced to its lowest fractional ratio, was 19 to 3 against a third term.

A keen awareness of current political and economic issues was displayed by clergymen, some 300 strong, who converged on Rockford yesterday for the opening of the conference meeting which is to last through Sunday.

Topics on which they were asked to express an opinion covered a fairly wide range, embracing, besides the court reform program and the third term question, such issues as a logical successor for President Roosevelt in the White House, the struggle for supremacy in divided labor ranks, the question of federal and state relief expenditures, the moral tone of America today, and the Illinois parole system.

Vary on Next President

Although pastoral delegates to the Methodist Episcopal convention are reluctant to voice an opinion on a successor, many declining to answer the question when it was put to them by reporters conducting the

Golf Once Outlawed, Briton Teed Shot 445-Yards

BY BUD SHAVER

When you relax on the shady porch of your favorite golf course on these warm afternoons, you might start in by reminding your fellow golf bugs that they are descended from a group of law-breakers.

Yes, golf once was prohibited by the Parliament of England. In 1491, the year before Christopher Columbus embarked on his boat ride, the game was not only forbidden but there was fixed a fine and imprisonment for offending players and also the persons upon whose property the game was played.

When the boys brag about their long drives, remind them that the record is still held by R. C. Bliss of Herne Bay, England. In August, 1913, Mr. Bliss hauled off and knocked one 445 yards, fifty yards more than the 395-yard poke credited to James Braid at Walton Heath in 1905.

Mrs. H. M. Robinson and Mrs. G. Clutterbuck halved the fifteenth hole in one at Ramsgate, England, May 1925.

And not to be outdone by the frailer sex, W. S. Evans and Rex Matthews halved the fourteenth hole in one at Claremont, England, in July of the same year.

Shot 18 Pars

When your pals complain about hard luck, mention Red Gann, the Chattanooga pro, who shot eighteen pars in a row twice and lost both times at Brainerd Municipal Course in 1932.

No, sir, not always to the swift or the strong go the laurels when that old man with the long white beard—Mr. Fate—steps into the picture.

Take the case of that golf veteran, Tommy Armour. Playing in the 1929 Canadian Open, the lean Scot's ball rolled to a stop only twelve inches from the cup on one green, certainly an easy single putt. Then he stepped to the ball, confident that the tense gallery would see the sphere drop from sight on his next stroke. But he learned the perversity of luck when he took three to sink it.

In contrast Tommy Armour along with Paul Runyan later accomplished the miraculous. Runyan scored exactly par on each of the eighteen holes at Virginia Beach in the Hotel Cavalier tournament in 1934. Armour did the same thing on the tough Miami Biltmore course, November 21, 1933.

If you have trouble keeping on the fairway be consoled by the feat of Lieutenant Legare K. Tarrant, U. S. Army, who on May 15, 1932, made a birdie on a par four hole without ever being on the fairway, in the rough or on the green.

He drove into a trap, pitched out into another trap and then bounced his out directly into the cup.

For "Iron Men" let us give you E. A. Ferguson who in August 1930 played golf continuously for 158 hours at Ridgmont Golf Course in Detroit. He averaged slightly over eighty-six strokes for each eighteen holes.

Played 306 Holes

Bob Swanson, another marathon golfer, played 306 holes in nineteen hours at Sunset Fields, Los Angeles, in 1933. He walked seventy-six miles and made 1,474 strokes, acquiring one of the greatest sets of blisters in history.

In the senior department, L. H. Rogers of New York played seventy-five holes of golf on his seventy-fifth birthday, March 14, 1933. Robert J. Collier, age eighty-

Roosevelt vs Vandenberg

Roosevelt and Vandenberg, thus the favorite candidates of ministers who would discuss the question, have a three-to-one fractional lead over their nearest rival, Lewis, head of the CIO. Lewis in turn leads each of the other four candidates by a ratio of approximately two-to-one.

In spite of the straw ballot vote for Lewis, it was the American Federation of Labor that received the verdict when the question, "Which faction in the American labor movement do you consider most likely to survive?" was put to Methodist Episcopal delegates. Although the CIO had supporters, approximately four out of five ministers indicated the A. F. of L. when this question was asked.

On the question of whether or not state and federal governments are too liberal with their relief expenditures, pastors are almost evenly divided, slightly more than 50 per cent of those polled voicing criticism of relief methods.

Think Parole System Lax

The question of laxity in the Illinois parole system brought out the most decided expression of opinion of any of the topics on which ministers were interviewed. For every one expressing satisfaction with parole methods in this state, ten voiced the criticism of laxity.

Departing from subjects of political and economic nature to answer questions relating purely to the moral tone of the nation, more than half of the clergymen displayed a gloomy outlook. They felt that the moral level of Americans has been changed for the worse in the last ten years.

ROCK FALLS SEX CRIMINAL GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

Rapist of 8-Year-Old Girl Sentenced to Twenty-five Years

Harold Miller, 27, of Rock Falls, was sentenced to 25 years in the Illinois state prison at Joliet by Judge Nels A. Larson in Whiteside County Circuit court Tuesday afternoon, when he pleaded guilty to an attack on an eight-year-old Rock Falls girl.

Miller, who was handcuffed and closely guarded, was then rushed to Ogles County jail to prevent any possible violence. It was said that a group had gone to the Miller home with a rope about a half hour after Miller was arrested Saturday night, but he had already been removed to the county jail at Morris.

The mother of the girl and the attending physician testified as to the crime. Miller pleaded guilty to the charge in the morning, but Judge Larson awaited passing sentence until he heard evidence of the nature of the crime.

Miller was taken to prison Tuesday evening.

Pocahontas and Red Men Close Annual Meeting

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Miss Ruth Casey of Peoria was appointed district deputy at the closing session of the Decree of Pocahontas annual state convention last night. The meeting was held in conjunction with the improved Order of Red Men.

Ben Jones of Westville, Ill., was elected Great Sachem of the Red Men.

Next year's convention will be held at Bloomington.

Pocahontas officers elected included: Rose Lawyer, Bloomington, Great Pocahontas; Fern Heren of Pekin, Great Wenona; Laura Maule of East St. Louis, Great Minnehaha; Pearl Stricklin, Harrisburg, Great Prophetess; Selma Gravitt, Bloomington, Great First Scout; Eda Roberts, Bloomington, Great Second Scout; Daisy Collof, Kewanee, Great Guard of Forest.

Red Men officers elected included: William Conway, of Witt, Senior Sacamore; Fred Peterson, Woodhull, Junior Sacamore; Lan Haney, Herrin, Keeper of Records; Kyle Rask, Moline, elevated to Great Prophet.

Accused in his own time of nature faking because of the dramatic poses in which he portrayed birds, John James Audubon, early American naturalist, has been vindicated by the studies of more recent scientists.

200 EXPECTED AT HOMECOMING DINNER, AMBOY

Football Game, Dance Part of Annual Celebration

Over two hundred reservations are expected for the huge banquet to be served as the climax of the annual Amboy Township high school alumni homecoming, Saturday, Oct. 9. Miss Marie Ross, secretary of the association, said this morning.

One hundred seventy reservations have already been received but more are available. The banquet will be served at 6:30 P. M. by the ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church of Amboy in the Amboy high school gymnasium and a dance will follow the dinner in the auditorium of the high school.

The homecoming events will begin at 2:15 P. M. Saturday when the football game between Polo Community high and Amboy, both of the Rock River Valley conference, will be played on the athletic field adjacent to the school grounds. Both teams are fighting to escape the cellar position in the conference and so a great battle is expected.

Acting as toastmaster at the banquet in the evening will be Dr. Charles Brady of Joliet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brady of Amboy. The principal speaker will be L. V. James of LaGrange, son of Mrs. P. M. James and the late Attorney P. M. James of Amboy.

Miss Rosse stated today that all alumni and friends are invited to attend the dance for which Frankie Pyzner and his nine-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

Election Of Officers Heads Business Of Township Officials

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Reports of the resolutions, auditing and legislative committees and the election of officers headed the business to be transacted by the 28th annual convention of the Illinois association of township officials before it adjourns today.

The convention yesterday heard a round of speeches, including those by Lieutenant Governor John Stelle and Ernst Lieberman, chief highway engineer, in which the importance of farm-to-market roads was stressed.

Stelle also acclaimed township government as an important part of Democratic local rule on the ground the officials are close to the people.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

I'M ON MY WAY TO THE BANK

I JUST LEFT THERE!

Two brothers were in business in two small country villages near each other. One of them was a banker, the other a store-owner. One day the store-owner sent a messenger to the banker and at the same time the banker sent a messenger to the store-owner. One messenger ran faster than the other and they passed at a point 720 yards from the store-owner's store. Each messenger stayed 10 minutes at his destination and then started back. This time they passed each other at a point 400 yards from the bank. Each messenger maintained his same rate of speed, throughout the trip. How far apart are the store and the bank?

BROTHERS FACE MURDER TRIAL MONDAY, OCT. 18

Shelbyville, Ky., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The Garr brothers—Jack, Roy and Dr. E. S.—will go on trial Monday, Oct. 18, in Shelby circuit court on indictments charging them with the wilful murder of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt.

The trial date was set this morning when they were arraigned before Circuit Judge Charles C. Marshall.

Jack and Roy were in court when the case was called this morning and attorneys for the defense presented affidavits from LaGrange doctors stating that Dr. E. S. Garr was too ill to attend.

Attorney General Hubert Meredith, who is handling the case for the commonwealth because H. B. Kinsolving, Jr., commonwealth attorney, requested that he be relieved because of his close association with the Garrs during the trial of General Denhardt for the alleged murder of their sister, Verna Garr Taylor, asked for a forfeiture of the doctor's $20,000 bond. The court over-ruled his motion.

The indictments were returned a short time after J. Ballard Clark, chief of defense counsel, sent into the grand jury room yesterday a request for "action"—either the return of indictments or dismissal of the warrants. The move, made after it was indicated the jurors were deadlocked, was almost without precedent in Kentucky legal annals.

Park Association Meets in Freeport

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A tour of Freeport parks and addresses by Chicago park district officials today featured the second annual program of the Illinois Association of Park Districts annual convention.

Fred G. Huehlong, of the Chicago park district; O. M. Becker, of Berwyn, and Col. H. L. Kellogg, also of Chicago, were principal speakers.

The convention was opened yesterday with an address by James B. Kenney, of Peoria, president of the organization.

An illustrated lecture, "Your Bird Friends and How to Win Them," was given last night by Joseph H. Dodson, of Kankakee.

PMA Continues To Picket Springfield Mine Until Hearing

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Progressive Miners of America members continued to picket Mine B west of here today as the national labor relations board postponed its hearing on whether the P. M. A. or the rival United Mine Workers of America should have the contract for working the pit.

Carl Elshoff, owner of the mine which has been closed since May, said officials in Washington notified him the hearing had been moved back to Oct. 25 instead of today but the action was not explained.

SEEDS TREATED CHEMICALLY AID FLAX, CORN YIELDS

Chicagoan Claims Test Prove Merits of New Method

By PAUL D. SHOZMAKER Associated Press Farm Editor Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A revolutionary change in agricultural practices through use of chemically-treated seeds was forecast today by Howard D. Salins, Chicago, after harvesting of test fields of flax and corn in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Saline, inventor of the process, said it was applicable to all forms of plant life.

Results of this year's tests proved to his satisfaction, Salins said, that fiber flax of quality equal to that of the best grown in Europe, can be produced in this country from treated seed and that it afforded a highly-profitable return to farmers.

Yields of corn from treated seed, he said, were 25 per cent greater than yields from various kinds of untreated seed planted in adjacent fields in Illinois this year. North of Merrill, Wis., where frosts limit the season to less than 90 days, and corn is cut green for silage, a number of farmers, Salins said, grew corn to maturity from treated seed.

The reaction of the seed germ to the chemical, Salins said, gives the soil opportunity to facilitate fecundity. At the same time the treatment promoted growth of certain bacteria which replenishes the soil with those elements used as food by the growing plant, he said. Consequently, he added, use of fertilizer is unnecessary.

Treated wheat seed was planted in both Illinois, on the farm of John C. Nepermann, near Dundee, and at Merrill this week.

Plan Using WPA Workers on Farms For Corn Harvest

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The first of a series of meetings designed to bring together farmers who need harvest help and WPA workers was held yesterday at Sycamore, Ill.

Other meetings between Illinois relief and WPA officials, township supervisors and farm leaders and representatives of the state free employment service were scheduled within the next two weeks for Carroll, Winnebago, Grundy, Marshall and Putnam counties.

Leo M. Lyons, secretary of the Illinois emergency relief commission, said the procedure agreed upon at the DeKalb county meeting yesterday was for farmers to notify the county Farm Bureau when they need workers. The Farm Bureau, he said, will notify the state employment office, which in turn will furnish its information to farmers' Relief and WPA officials will see that the employment office has on hand an up-to-date list of employables, Lyons said.

Here and There
In Sports World

By Eddie Brietz

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—When the Yankees go out, they go "all out" as the boys say at the tracks . . . Young Mister Melton has his work cut out for him if he wants to rub out the memory of that sixth inning yesterday . . . Giant fans are still shuddering . . . and why not? . . . After Bartlett's miscue on Mancuso's throw it sounded like the Fourth of July . . . You can have Gomez and DiMaggio . . . We liked Lazzeri's execution of the hit and run in the sixth . . . He picked off a high, inside ball and hit past the runner . . . The perfect hit and run . . . And he added a homer and a swell play on a ground ball in the fourth . . . The Yanks will miss him, (any team would.)

Time changes everything as Eddie Windsor has been heard to remark . . . It was in back of the batting cage during the Yankee practice . . . A candid camera bug ran up and asked Earle Combs, Yank coach, to watch the birdie . . .
"You don't want me," said Earle,
"You want the ball players" . . .
A decade ago Earle was the beau ideal of outfielders . . . No Garner could make the hard ones look easier than the Kentucky colonel . . .
Today he's the grey-haired gent that hits fungoes to the outfielders.

Gomez got a terrific bang out of hitting a ball into the right field stands in batting practice . . . None of the Yanks could remember him doing it before . . . As he stepped up to the plate to take another cut, a wag said the Giants would play for him on the running track . . .
"Ah," said El Goofy, "I'll fool 'em, I'll bunt" The boy can pitch . . .
When he uncorks that high hard one it looks like a string stretched between the mound and the plate
. . . But all he talks about is his hitting.

At the end of 1935, there were 10,891 postoffices in Japan.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

CHRISTIANS IN GOD'S CARE

Text: Jude 1-4, 17-23

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D.

Editor of Advance

Christianity made its way in an ancient world of evil. The pure souls who heard the voice of Jesus and turned to His way of life, and the early converts who came after that first generation of Christians were at once face to face with all the difficulties and temptations and dangers of a surrounding pagan world.

To be a Christian meant to be in constant danger of persecution because the world at all times has been very critical and hostile towards those who have not conformed to its ways.

The menace that besets the Christian, however, does not all come from without. In every such situation there are those who take some compromising and expedient way. They do not bluntly and frankly yield to temptation, but they find some means of justifying their conduct to themselves and others.

It is this situation that is described in this lesson from the one-chapter book of Jude. Jude is described as the brother of James, and it is supposed that they were brothers, or half-brothers, or our Lord.

Apparently the brothers of Jesus were slow at first to believe in His divine mission, but James and Jude became zealous disciples. Our lesson reveals Jude as a man of pure and beautiful character, zealous to save the early Christians from corruption and from the debasing influences of their environment.

His message to the the early Christians is one of mercy and peace and love. He is constrained to exhort these Christians, but it is not with any superior sense of righteousness, but out of his quiet zeal for the faith.

Jude speaks of those who have crept into the church who have not understood the purity and beauty of this faith, ungodly men who have been corrupt and lascivious and who have denied their Master. He calls upon these Christians to remember the words of the apostles, that there would arise mockers and hypocrites, who would be deceived themselves and would seek to lure others from the life of the Holy Spirit.

What are Christians to do in the presence of such a situation?
They are to keep themselves in the love of God. They are to seek the mercy of Christ unto eternal life, and they are to be merciful toward others, particularly toward those who are in doubt.

Some they are to save, snatching them out of the fire, but in other cases, mercy is to be associated with fear. How finely this is put:
"On some have mercy with fear, hating even the garment spotted by the flesh."

Where could there be better counsel for Christians of today?
For the Christian of today, like these early disciples, is in the midst not only of temptations and dangers, but he is apt to be beset with attitudes and philosophies that would destroy or pervert the simple sincerity and beauty of a faith established in mercy, peace, and love.

PASTOR GETS INSPIRATION
THROUGH LONG WALKS
Eddyville, Ia.—(AP)—On 1,864 consecutive Sundays the Rev. Mr.
J. W. Zerbe of the Eddyville Methodist Episcopal church has walked an 11-mile round trip between his home and church.

He says he prefers walking to the use of horse and buggy or automobiles and intends adding considerably to the 21,419 total already to his credit.

WIRES CROSSED AT TAX OF-FICE

Topeka, Kas.—(AP)—For 13 years H. M. Guy and John Eyth of Topeka had been taxed for the other's property.

The error was discovered this year when Guy complained to the county treasurer that his taxes were too high.

County commissioners returned $873.86 to Guy and allowed Eyth to settle for $1,115.16.

Well-kept nails, neat eyebrows and smoothly arranged hair are three marks of a well-groomed woman.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines
you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion.
Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.
Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it.
Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

CAST OF CHARACTERS
PRISCILLA PIERCE—heroine.
JOHN KERR—Cilly's roommate and murderer's victim.
JIM KERRIGAN—Cilly's fiancé.
HARRY HUTCHINS—Amy's strange visitor.
SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday, Cilly looked down from the roof and started to see that Mr. Hunter, paralyzed for years, walks about with ease in his own bedroom!

CHAPTER XIX

RETURNING to her apartment after breakfast Wednesday morning, Cilly met Detective Martin in the hall.

"Good morning, Miss Pierce," he greeted. "I've just been through the house. Dolan wants everyone down at police headquarters this morning at 10:30."

"Very well, I'll be there," Cilly assured him. She decided that she would be there at 10 o'clock to inform the sergeant of her latest discovery. He had ruled Mr. Hunter out as a possibility because of the man's physical incapacity. This morning, however, Hunter loomed in Cilly's mind as a very important possibility. Why would a man deliberately tie himself to a wheel-chair when he was well able to walk?

Later, however, when a brawny policeman had ushered her into a private room at police headquarters, she discovered she would have no opportunity to see the sergeant alone. Several of the Bayview tenants had arrived before her. They sat in a semicircle around a plain flat top desk, nervously expectant. At 12:20 early Monday morning, we have a witness present who can testify that the girl did not fall, but was deliberately thrown from the roof. This is a cold-blooded murder, ladies and gentlemen, which we are investigating, and I need not impress upon you the importance of absolute truth and accuracy in answering my questions. Mrs. Shaw, will you please tell us again, in your own words, just exactly what you saw occur on the roof of the Bayview?"

Mrs. Corbett's mother got to her feet. All eyes were turned upon her. Dramatically, she squared her shoulders and took a deep breath before she spoke.

"As I told you before, sergeant," she said in clear, crisp tones, "I was seated at the window of my bedroom in the St. Ann Apartments. I had not been feeling well, and I wanted to get the air. It was very dark out—there were neither stars nor a moon—and ordinarily, I could not see the roof opposite except when an occasional beam from one of the ships in the bay would pass over it. Suddenly I heard this frightful scream, and at that very instant a beam passed slowly over the roof opposite. I saw a man pick this girl up in his arms and deliberately fling her over the side of the house. That is all. I must have fainted. My daughter prepared an opiate for me, and I did not awaken until morning."

"Thank you, Mrs. Shaw. May I ask if the light was sufficiently would be summoned. Mrs. Corbett's mother was the only person who actually saw the murder committed. Her testimony would be very important.

Even as Martin spoke, the door opened and they entered. Mr. Corbett, Cilly noticed, had survived his drinking very well. He was immaculate in a light gray tropical worsted, and he carried himself with an air of assurance.

Mrs. Corbett, the same meek and humble woman Cilly had first met, followed her husband hesitantly into the room. She wore a nondescript blue voile dress, and it hung limply on her thin frame. Her face was pale and drawn.

Her mother, in spite of asthma, held her head high and entered the room with a firm step.

As soon as they were seated, Sergeant Dolan addressed the group:

"You all know," he began, in a calm, rather friendly voice, "a young woman was killed in a fall from the roof of the Bayview Apartments last Sunday night—or, to be more exact, at 12:20 early Monday morning. We have a witness present who can testify that the girl did not fall, but was deliberately thrown from the roof. This is a cold-blooded murder, ladies and gentlemen, which we are investigating, and I need not impress upon you the importance of absolute truth and accuracy in answering my questions. Activities Among Students at D. H. S. Reported By One of Their Number Today

By DASH, JR.
Dixon snagged its first N. C. I. C. victory last Saturday and it looks like Dixon has a real chance to win the conference championship again this year. This will make it her third straight championship. The competition is stronger this year though than it has been for a number of years.

De Kalb represents about the strongest team that Dixon will face during the 1937 season. It boasts a 172-lb. line, which is really something in prep football. This weight average is the same that Rockford had against Dixon this year. It looked like the game Saturday was going to be very close, the score being seven to six at one time. Our gang started clicking though after the half and then they really went to town.

In the lightweight game a very peculiar thing happened. Last year the lightweight beat the Belvidere gang by a score of seven to nothing. The touchdown was scored on a fake-buck which was turned into and end run. This year the touchdown was scored on the very same play with the same fellow carrying the ball. This was the only touchdown scored. The only difference was that last year the scoring was done in the second quarter, and this year it was done in the third quarter. Quite a coincidence, what?

The home town gang did some real cheering, too. There was a lot of the old school spirit present, and that is what we want. We have some regular cheer leaders now so let's keep it up and show this N. C. I. conference what some real cheering is.

A new yell was made up by Betty Allen, Cary Crawford, Elizabeth Davies, Norma Crawford, and Frank Daschbach on the way home from the football game the other day. It really isn't a new yell, but it is a variation in one which we have had for quite a while. You'll see it in action at the next home game. It's really "somethin' new and somethin' different".

There was another fire-drill the other day at the high school. This one occurred early in the morning during the first period, while everyone was awake and lively. Again though it was hard to recognize the fire bell. It certainly sounds queer. They ought to fix it or do something to it. One can hardly hear it on the third floor. After most everyone was outside Mr. Marvin Winger opened a window on the second floor and looked like he was going to jump out. Cries rent the air and a number of potential catchers ran to the bottom of the window to break his fall. He did not jump however, and decided to use the stairs. A bit of very good judgment, as one might see. It's good that it was in the morning because judging from the way that some of the students were fuffing when they got back up on the third floor, it is doubtful as to whether they would have made it or not if it had been later in the day.

The exact time taken to clear the building is not known, but it was undoubtedly faster than last week. Practice makes perfect, so we'll probably have quite a few more soon.

Notice to all male students at Dixon high school: Bob Dowling did start a new fad when he wore socks of different colors the other day. Friday will be "Odd Sock Day". All boys are requested to wear socks of different colors. Let's make it a real day and everyone do it. The idea has been thought of before, but no one has gone through with it. There have been "Old Clothes Days", but the officials have not looked upon this practice with a kind eye as some boys found out last year when they tried to have an "Old Clothes Day". The result of this day was that the boys had to go home and change to more respectable clothing. Certainly this newly invented fashion can not be looked upon with disfavor. There is no harm in it. Last year the officials at the school informed the boys that it took the minds of many students off their work by attracting the attention of these pupils. However if all the boys will co-operate and will do as has been planned, then there will be no boys who will be outstanding from the other pupils and in this way divert the attention of any pupil from his or her studies. It's just "somethin' new and somethin' different". So, some on, fellows, let's make it a success.

It sure is dead for the most part of the student body again without the fall festival to go to at night. That was really a change and was a lot of fun for the pupils. As it was before, so it is now. There is absolutely nothing to do at night. One should stay home some nights but it's nice to go out and do something once in a while. What can be done at night? That is the question. It gets kind of tiresome going to the show for a little amusement. If there was a Y. M. C. A. in town it would be a change for the boys, anyway. Even an organized Boy's club would go good. It is not known what could be done for the girls. They will have to figure that out for themselves. At present all the high school pupils are looking forward to the school class parties. The freshman-sophomore party comes this month, but the junior-senior party does not come until the Friday before Thanksgiving. That is an awfully long time to wait, but if it must be done it must be done. It will be a big affair and it can't come too soon.

They say that the giggles are hard to get rid of in a hurry if you get them bad, and that was proven in one of Miss Eberoth's English III classes Tuesday morning. Over something which is unknown, Bob Hoffman got to snickering something terrible. First would come a short little burst, and then a louder, more prolonged snort. This was repeated quite a number of times before Miss Eberoth suggested that Bob leave the room till he got control of himself. Bob was gone for about ten minutes and then returned to class. Even then he was not entirely recovered but the class only lasted a few minutes longer so it didn't make much difference to Miss Eberoth. Cases like this one happen every so often and the trouble is that one can do nothing to stop one's self. Arthur Eastman in the same class is another one who gets in such a condition every once in a while. They do provide a laugh for the rest of the class though.

"Trig" class is sure proving to be somewhat different from the rest of the classes in D. H. S. There is always some excitement in this class. Not a day goes by but what something funny, interesting, or out of the ordinary happens. A good laugh is sure to be had by the pupils in this class every day. One reason for this is undoubtedly the fact that the windows are on the east side of the room and therefore one can see all that is going on in the immediate vicinity of the school on that side. One would be surprised at what one is able to see from this vantage point. On the other hand though, the class is being taken very seriously by the students, and "trig" is proving to be a very interesting subject. Everyone in the class likes it, and no one regrets that they are enrolled in this class.

These many-colored striped socks are going to be "the thing" around the old school house. One can look most anywhere and see a boy with his legs crossed and see these many colors blaring out. They are O. K. though, and they are "sumpin' new and sumpin' different" and that is what the high school students are now looking for all the time.

Coach Lindell is stressing the fundamentals of tackling and blocking to the varsity squad this week, and the old dummy is really taking a lot of punishment. In fact the boys tore a leg off the poor thing in their ferocious, determined attempts at perfection, and something will have to be done about the situation very soon. A picked "first squad" of about fifteen or sixteen boys are under the personal direction of Mr. Lindell, and these boys are the ones who are taking their cracks at the dummy this week. Last week's display of "neck-tackling" was the real cause of this.

Lindell was very disgusted with this demonstration of tackling and the motto among the fellows now is "Hit low!" As a result of this strenuous dummy practice, an exceptional showing is expected against Mendota this coming Saturday. And speaking of Mendota, let's have a crowd there like we had at Rockford. The team needs your support. Every little bit helps, you know. Get down there if you have to hitch-hike. It will be a nice place to go to, too, because Mendota has one of the best fields in the conference. Some have been there before and know what it is like, but for those who haven't, it is one swell place. We'll be looking for you. Don't let us down, will you? Keep up the old school spirit.
